

LTB Bio

Annapolis based pop and R&B artist, LTB, is best known for his rich tone and beautiful vibrato that evokes the ubiquitous sound of classic crooners from the mid twentieth century. His definitive talent for composing, singing and producing his own music makes him an artist to watch in the coming years. Best known for his love of emotion provoking lyrics, unexpected beats and jazz influences, he easily crosses the pop and R&B music genres. He draws inspiration from artists such as The Weeknd, James Blake, Joji, Hozier, and Steve Lacy.

LTB has performed in front of thousands at many venues in the Annapolis and Baltimore area. Whether it is a sold-out crowd or intimate showcase, he knows how to captivate the audience with his vocal strength and musicality. LTB will be relocating to Nashville in the Fall of 2023 to continue his music career.

His first single, "Rewind" has already received attention and support from fans and musicians alike. The meaning behind Rewind is close to LTB's heart and he hopes it helps others move past moments of regret and learn to focus on the present. "Rewind" is available now on all streaming services. www.instagram.com/ltb.music (@ltb.music)

LTB's newest single, Slow Down, is available now on all streaming platforms.

QUOTES FROM LTB

Quote about new single, Slow Down:

"One night in summer, I was sitting on a balcony stressed about life and my future. I kept scrambling from one panicked thought to another panicked thought. I finally stopped myself, took a breath, and slowed down for a moment. From doing that, I achieved peace and gratitude for life itself and what was around me at that moment. I created this song, hoping that people will just take a breath and slow down and not let those thoughts control them and gain that moment or mindset of serenity that felt so foreign to me before."

More insight into Rewind:

"The concept of Rewind came to me on an introspective evening in my room. As I sat there thinking over and over about all the things in my past that I wanted to change...including myself, I realized how futile it was. And, how I was probably the only one in the world who really cared. My favorite line from the song came out of that moment — I'm obsessed with my past, I'm the one making it last. I hope others will listen and realize that moving forward is the best way to live life to the fullest."

More about LTB's musical style and what to expect:

“My style infuses darker sounding, soulful melodies and story driven instrumentals with emotion filled, personal lyrics. That being said, don’t be surprised if you hear a little EDM inspired beat hiding in my music too.”

“Right now, I’m working on more summer-type songs with soul and dance elements. That could be because I’m sitting on a beach looking out at the water at this very moment.”
